

NOMINATED PROGRAMS

(In alphabetical order)

Program Name: A Collaborative Partnership: It really works!
College: LA Valley College
Category: 2. Outstanding Collaboration with Business and Industry
Nominator: Dr. Deborah diCesare, Dean of Economic & Workforce Development
Program Director(s): Mr. Lennie Ciufò
Brief Description: This past year, LAVC assisted three employers open four new retail food stores and provided additional staff for two existing stores in the Southland. The Job Training Office at LAVC served as the catalyst connecting the various partners together. The project was endorsed by the Workforce Investment Board (WIB) and funded by workforce development agencies. Potential employees were provided by the WorkSource Centers, with the curriculum being developed by LAVC. In total, 191 employees were hired into full-time positions with benefits.

Program Name: Administration of Justice Student Club
College: East LA College
Category: 8. Best Community Collaboration and Service
Nominator: Ms. Gayle Brosseau, Dean of Economic Development
Program Director(s): Mr. Patrick Hauser
Brief Description: ELAC's Administration of Justice Club consists of over 100 enthusiastic members from three club chapters. Peer-elected officials govern the club. It was founded upon the ideal of providing students with realistic, timely insights and experiences of the criminal justice system as they prepare for entry into the workplace. While socializing with others who share common academic and career goals, members participate in community service projects with a focus on charitable works.

Program Name: An Integrated Approach to Marketing Career Programs
College: East LA College
Category: 7. Best Marketing and Recruitment for Vocational/Technical Career Programs
Nominator: Ms. Renee D. Martinez, Vice President of Workforce Development
Program Director(s): Ms. Sharon Tate, Ms. Trish Glover, and Mr. Yegor Hovakimyan
Brief Description: East Los Angeles College is completing its fourth year of a marketing plan which has the following goals: "to create and maintain a positive image of the college that will generate increasing enrollment, community support, and industry partnerships; and further, generate internal support by communicating with faculty, staff, students and alumni. This program, through the use of new program brochures, college recruitment materials, a redesigned website, and many new advertising and public relations efforts, has enabled ELAC to continue to maintain the largest enrollment within the district.

Program Name: Career in Child Care Training Program (CCCTP)
College: LA Mission College
Category: 9. Best Track Record
Nominator: Mr. Edgardo Zayas, Dean of Academic Affairs
Program Director(s): Ms. Morena Escobar
Brief Description: the Los Angeles Department of Public Social Services (DPSS) funds The Careers in Child Care Training Program (CCCTP). This program was developed to train motivated CalWorks participants to work in the field of Early Childhood Development (ECD). This program provides training to current TANF recipients who have a desire to work with young children as a career. Of a total of 48 participants, 100% completed their Associate Teacher Permit/Skills award, 63% completed their Pre-school Certificate, 63% completed their Teacher's permit, 27% completed their AA Degree, and 80% found full time employment.

Program Name: Cinema-Television
College: LA City College
Category: 2. Outstanding Collaboration with Business and Industry
Nominator: Dr. Joyce Moore, Dean of Academic Affairs
Program Director(s): Mr. Vaughn Obern
Brief Description: The Los Angeles City College, in conjunction with the Cinema-Television Department has contracted with the Occidental Studios Institute to provide training for disadvantaged youth. With a grant funded curriculum developed by the Cinema-TV Department, instructors will work with industry professionals to provide specific training in basic production staff skills, camera assistant skills, electrical skills, set construction, and dressing, and set operations.

Program Name: CommunicationsPlus
College: Pierce College
Category: 1. Integration of Academic and Technical Skills
Nominator: Carole Delgado, Associate Dean of Workforce Development
Dr. Donna-Mae Villanueva, Dean of Business, Tech, & Creative Arts
Program Director(s): Mr. David Oshima, Mr. Rob O'Neal
Brief Description: Pierce College, Grover Cleveland High School, and Listening for Greatness Media Productions are partnering to design and implement a program in communication arts – CommunicationsPlus – for high school students in the San Fernando Valley. The project develops students' understanding of media arts and technology as vehicles for communicating ideas, feelings, concepts, and issues to others. Using innovative threading of staff, content, and anticipated outcomes, the project engages these students in a highly interactive exploration of modern communication, building their academic, artistic, and technical skills.

Program Name: Community Literacy Academy (CLA)
College: LA Mission College
Category: 4. Flexible Class Scheduling
Nominator: Mr. Edgardo Zayas, Dean of Academic Affairs
Program Director(s): Ms. Angelica Toledo
Brief Description: Mission College, in conjunction with LAUSD Maclay Primary Center has been able to open a 2.5 hour preschool program four days a week in the city of Pacoima, an area of the north San Fernando Valley with a large immigrant population with limited English proficiency and high unemployment. The preschool focuses on literacy and school readiness skills. While children are in their classroom their parents are attending a non-credit ESL class just a couple of doors down on the same campus! The goals of the CLA program are to have children better prepared for schools, create a life long love of literacy and learning within the family, and to assist parents to become self reliant within their community. The program currently has thirty families enrolled.

Program Name: Computer Application and Office Technologies (CAOT)
College: LA City College
Category: 3. Creative Use of Instructional Technology
Nominator: Dr. Joyce Moore
Program Director(s): Dr. Thelma Day, Ms. Arlene Zimmerly
Brief Description: The CAOT Department at LACC has designed its Web pages first and foremost with the students' needs in mind. The ultimate goal of our Web sites is to provide students with better, more dynamic classroom instruction that is presented in a variety of ways to address different learning styles. We want our students to be encouraged and motivated to attain high grades in their classes and to realize that they will be rewarded for their hard work as they meet the criteria for the variety of certificates we offer. The Web sites makes it convenient for students to access vital forms, handouts, and hyperlinks to other helpful sites or related pages on campus or from home around the clock.

Program Name: Cosmetology
College: LA Trade-Tech College
Category: 2. Outstanding Collaboration with Business and Industry
Nominator: Ms. Cynthia Morley-Mower, Dean of Academic Affairs & Workforce Dev
Program Director(s): Mr. Elton J. Robinson
Brief Description: In keeping with the high standards of the Beauty Industry, the LATTC Cosmetology Department maintains a comprehensive theory and practical partnership with Pivot Point International and Milady's to help train and graduate quality students. The students go through our 1600 hour program with seasoned instructors that utilize state of the art support materials such as DVD navigation instructions, Power Point presentations and closed captioning for the hearing impaired to name a few. Instructors invite established beauty salon and supply owners, make-up artists, hairstylists, and educators to share the depth and breadth of their experience and keep students motivated and focused on their careers.

Program Name: Critical Thinking: Problem Solving, Decision Making, and Creativity Certificate Program
College: LA City College
Category: 2. Outstanding Collaboration with Business and Industry
Nominator: Dr. Joyce Moore, Dean of Academic Affairs
Program Director(s): Dr. Rochelle Sechooler
Brief Description: This novel program at LACC meets the specific needs of the Los Angeles County for competent knowledge workers while providing county workers with training and education to expand opportunities for advancement and promotion. The demands of the post-industrial, brain-based economy make the ability to solve problems, make decisions, and think creatively necessary skills. Extensive and outstanding collaboration between the college and the county produced a curriculum that not only incorporates real county work issues, but also makes them a focal point of the course.

Program Name: Developing Skills in Automotive Technology
College: Pierce College
Category: 7. Best Marketing and Recruitment for Vocational/Technical Career Programs
Nominator: Ms. Carole Delgado, Associate Dean of Workforce Development
Dr. Donna-Mae Villanueva, Dean of Business, Tech & Creative Arts
Program Director(s): Mr. Tom Rosdahl
Brief Description: During the three school years from fall 2002 through spring 2005, the Automotive Service Technology Program at Pierce College has worked closely with Nissan North America and the Nissan Foundation to recruit and educate high school juniors and seniors in the automotive service industry. This has benefited high school students significantly, who have been able to use Pierce College credit in Automotive Service, while receiving special presentations from Nissan Automotive specialists on new styling and engineering innovations. The partnership has also fostered a solid working relationship between the college, Nissan North America, and Nissan and Infiniti dealerships in the greater San Fernando Valley.

Program Name: Economic Self-Help
College: LA Mission College
Category: 2. Outstanding Collaboration with Business and Industry
Nominator: Mr. Edgardo Zayas, Dean of Academic Affairs
Program Director(s): Mr. Allen Aghajanian
Brief Description: LAMC was awarded a Congressional Directed Grant by the U.S. Department of Education to develop this program entitled "Economic Self Help" in order work with participants to alleviate some of the daunting uncertainty and lack of knowledge of new entrepreneurs and existing businesses as a result of the changing and unstable economy post 9/11. The program taps into the knowledge base of experts in fields such as importing, exporting, writing successful business plans, international business resources, finding products to buy and sell, understanding U.S. Customs and FDA regulations, and more. To date over 86 individuals and businesses have benefited from this extraordinary program.

Program Name: Electronics & Computer Technology Restructuring State of the Art Curriculum
College: LA Trade-Tech College
Category: 5. State of the Art Curriculum and Competencies
Nominator: Ms. Cynthia Morley-Mower, Dean of Academic Affairs & Workforce Dev
Program Director(s): Mr. Eric L. Chavez, Mr. Walter Taylor
Brief Description: The definition of Electronics in the Workforce has been expanded to include such diverse areas as:

- ❑ Automotive electronics
- ❑ Home electronics
- ❑ Urban infrastructure electronics
- ❑ Transportation electronics
- ❑ Building structure electronics

Realizing that electronics programs need to adapt to meet the growing and anticipated needs of the workforce, the Electronics Department at LATTC has worked tirelessly to integrate new curriculum that reflects these changes, in particular teaching students and present employees how to integrate the use of automated systems and computers in their work. Fortunately, many workers in the field realize the importance of life-long learning, and are beginning to embrace the concept.

Program Name: Engineering
College: East LA College
Category: 6. Successful Encouragement of Non-Traditional Goal Pursuits
Nominator: Ms. Gayle Brosseau, Dean of Economic Development
Program Director(s): Mr. Vince Moretti, Mr. Rudy Pereda, Mr. Jose Ramirez
Brief Description: The Chair of the Engineering Department at ELAC, Vince Moretti, has developed a three pronged plan as a holistic approach to recruiting and retaining engineering students at the college including: 1) A Strategic Plan – that focuses on doubling enrollment over the next three years through Tech Prep, CACT (Center for Applied Competitive Technologies) and the Siemens Industry/Education Partnership; 2) A Curriculum Plan – which will evaluate the entire curriculum over a five-year period; and 3) A Marketing Plan – which includes working with MESA (Math, Science, and Engineering Association) on activities to boost student enrollment from area high schools. ELAC has received national recognition for its enrollment and high transfer numbers of minority (predominantly Hispanic) students.

Program Name: Family Technology Enrichment
College: LA Harbor College
Category: 9. Best Track Record
Nominator: Mr. Bobby McNeel, Vice President of Economic Development
Program Director(s): Ms. Juanita Naranjo
Brief Description: Using funds from the Family Support Program in Service provider area (SPA) 8, the Family Technology Enrichment program brings two generations from each of 25-30 families together in the greater Wilmington area to weekend classes that teach them to build a personal computer from components supplied by the special funding. Children and their guardians work together to build the computer, initialize the hard drive, and learn the basic skills of the Microsoft Office suite of programs, also supplied by the special funding.

Program Name: Fashion Design
College: LA Trade-Tech College
Category: 9. Best Track Record
Nominator: Ms. Cynthia Morley-Mower, Dean of Academic Affairs & Workforce Dev
Program Director(s): Ms. Carole Anderson, Faculty: Helen Armstrong, Nicola Baccari, Mary Brand-Njoku, Marva Brooks, Madeline Coreas, Dixie Cunnigan, Pat Davis-Evans, Finna Drebskaya, Dorothy Foral, Joyce Gale, Nurit Glass, Yuki Hatashita, Debbie Johnson, Hyein Kim, Michele Lininger, Linda Melin, Iris Petrie, Carol Sapos, William Stafford, Delia Thornton, Benito Torda, Ruth Watanabe
Brief Description: As Trade tech celebrates its 80th anniversary, what could be a better opportunity to reflect on one of the college's premiere programs? It was a partnership with the fledgling Los Angeles apparel industry that resulted in the formation of the Fashion Department at the city's first primarily vocational school. That was the beginning of a relationship with local industry that has flourished throughout the years. The dedicated faculty is unique in that many of them are graduates themselves, and the contributions of former department coordinator and dean Sharon Tate, have been invaluable in contributing to it's overall success.

Program Name: Fire Technology
College: East LA College
Category: 2. Outstanding Collaboration with Business and Industry
Nominator: Ms. Gayle Brosseau, Dean of Economic Development
Program Director(s): Mr. Dan Sullivan
Brief description: Under this collaboration, this partnership, led the L. A. Fire Department's (LAFD) Darren Palacios, Battalion Chief, and Eddie Marez, LAFD Engineer and Lead Instructor in the F.I.R.E. Academy, and Gina Chelstrom, Director of the Tech Prep Program, an exemplary Fire Technology Program has been created, which can be classified into two categories: 1. Preparation of high school and college students for careers in public service; and 2. Training of career professionals to upgrade skills and prepares them for career advancement. Without the assistance of the collaborators, the explosive growth and impressive accomplishments of the fire technology program would have been delayed.

Program Name: Health Net Customer Service Call Center Training #3
College: Pierce College, LA Valley College
Category: 2. Outstanding Collaboration with Business and Industry
Nominator: Ms. Carole Delgado, Associate Dean of Academic Affairs
Program Director(s): Ms. Judith D. Trester, Pierce; Mr. Lennie Ciufo, Valley
Brief Description: Pierce and Valley colleges collaborated with the Economic Alliance of the San Fernando Valley, the City of Los Angeles and the region's WorkSource (One-Stop) Centers to develop and implement this exceptional training program that met the needs of Health Net Inc. by training 17 qualified applicants for potential customer service call center positions. At the end of the 75-hour training program HealthNet hired all 17 participants.

Program Name: Journalism
College: East LA College
Category: 2. Outstanding Collaboration with Business and Industry
Nominator: Ms. Alma Johnson-Hawkins, Dean of Academic Affairs & Workforce Dev
Program Director(s): Ms. Jean Stapleton, Ms. Sylvia Rico-Sanchez
Brief Description: In an effort to increase students' real world knowledge, the Journalism Department held a special five-week advanced newspaper production course during winter intercession. The class met on Saturdays to make it easier for news professionals to speak to the class, including Steve Padilla, City Editor for the L. A. Times, Caroline Para, News Design Editor, and Martha Flores, Assistant Metro Editor. During the week, students worked on a special edition of the newspaper, using color for the first time, and put many of the ideas the speakers talked about into place.

Program Name: LEP Dry Wall Construction
College: LA Harbor College
Category: 6. Successful Encouragement of Non-Traditional Goal Pursuits
Nominator: Mr. Bobby McNeel, Vice President of Economic Development
Program Director(s): Ms. Juanita Naranjo
Brief Description: Using funds from the County of Los Angeles' English Immersion Program LAHC is conducting special classes in Dry Wall Construction for people who speak English as a second language. Targeted recruitment for unemployed or underemployed people who speak English as a second language, and job search services work hand in hand in this English Immersion program designed to train people in vocational areas where employment is likely once the skills are attained.

Program Name: Limited English Proficiency Child Care Teacher's Assistant
College: LA Mission College
Category: 8. Best Community Collaboration and Service
Nominator: Mr. Edgardo Zayas, Dean of Academic Affairs
Program Director(s): Ms. Angela Aghajanian, Ms. Maria Granados
Brief Description: The Limited English Proficiency (LEP) Child Care Teacher's Assistant Program is a specially funded program offered to CalWorks participants and low-income families who are interested in working with children. Training includes vocational English as a second language (VESL) interpersonal skills, personal development, critical thinking, communication and personal finance. The LEP program also provides personal and career development, and comprehensive support services for participants as they train for the workforce.

Program Name: National Emergency Grant
College: LA Mission College
Category: 8. Best Community Collaboration and Service
Nominator: Mr. Edgardo Zayas, Dean of Academic Affairs
Program Director(s): Ms. Kathleen Bishop
Brief Description: As a response to the devastating forest fires that struck the Santa Clarita/Pico Canyon area in the fall of 2003, LAMC was awarded a National Emergency Grant through the U. S. Department of Labor to 1. Restore and revitalize the burn areas and 2. Employ individuals who were impacted by the fires. In collaboration with the County of Los Angeles, WorkSource California, USDA Forest Service, Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, Santa Monica Mountains Conservancy, the City of Santa Clarita, US Army Corps of Engineers, Home Depot, and Lennar Communities, the 17 crewmembers cleared twenty tons of debris on a weekly basis, and planted over 1000 trees while preserving any plants that survived the blaze. Pico Canyon is once again open for the public to enjoy.

Program Name: On-Line Job Application Training
College: Pierce College
Category: 3. Creative Use of Instructional Technology
Nominator: Ms. Carole Delgado, Associate Dean of Academic Affairs & Workforce Dev
Program Director(s): Mr. Ron Smetzer, Mr. Richard D. Skidmore
Brief Description: Today's employers have moved into the technology age with regard to hiring activities for job seekers. Those companies that can afford the technology now require job seekers to complete online job applications. At Pierce College, under the development of Richard D. Skidmore, Prof. Of Business Administration, and Director of Job Placement, a similar activity and skill has been implemented for the Cooperative Work Experience Education Program and in selected Introduction to Business classes with excellent results.

Program Name: Pierce College Business Center
College: Pierce College
Category: 2. Outstanding Collaboration with Business and Industry
Nominator: Ms. Carole Delgado, Associate Dean of Academic Affairs & Workforce Dev
Program Director(s): Ms. Judith D. Trester
Brief Description: The Pierce Business Center was created solely with funding generated through customized training delivered by the Pierce Workforce Development Department, and offers pre-employment assessment testing (in conjunction with ACT – American College Testing) and continuing education and training for incumbent workers, including the certification for the TSA (Transportation Security Administration), the ASE (Automotive Service Excellence), and NMTCB (Nuclear Medicine Technology Certification Board).

Program Name: Society of Manufacturing Engineers Student Chapter #S130
College: Pierce College
Category: 9. Best Track Record
Nominator: Ms. Carole Delgado, Associate Dean of Academic Affairs & Workforce Dev
Dr. Donna-Mae Villanueva, Dean of Business Tech & Creative Arts
Program Director(s): Mr. Ron Smetzer
Program Description: For 18 years, the Pierce College Student SME Chapter #130 has competed against teams from other community colleges and technical schools in the Los Angeles Manufacturing Challenge. Pierce College has been the only college in North America to field a team in every year in which the competition has been held. The competition takes place at WESTTEC, the world's largest manufacturing industry trade show and conference held annually at the Los Angeles Convention Center. Pierce students have earned first, second, and third place finishes from a field of competitors representing as many as 42 colleges. In 2004 the Pierce entry won first place with a student designed and built 3-axis CNC milling/drilling machine.

Program Name: Tech-Prep Program
College: LA Mission College
Category: 7. Best Marketing and Recruitment for Vocational/Technical Career programs
Nominator: Mr. Edgardo Zayas, Dean of Academic Affairs
Program Director(s): Ms Geri Shapiro
Brief Description: The LAMC Tech Prep Culinary Program pathway reaches out to partners to provide articulated curriculum to high schools: Sylmar High School and Monroe High School. In addition, courses are taught at four Los Angeles County Probation camps located at the Phoenix Academy, Camp Holden, Camp Miller, and Camp Scudder. The focus of this curriculum is to meet workplace needs and Executive Chef Rudy Garcia (voted 2004 winner of the Chef of the Year by the Chef de Cuisine Association) brings a deep working knowledge of the field which he enthusiastically infuses into his classes.

Program Name: Technology Strategies for Improving Instruction in Business English and Business Terminology Classes
College: Pierce College
Category: 3. Creative Use of Instructional Technology
Nominator: Ms. Carole Delgado, Associate Dean of Academic Affairs & Workforce Dev
Program Director(s): Lyn Clark, Ms. Jill Binsley, Ms. Antoinette Simmonds
Brief Description: This innovative program, developed with VTEA support and enlisting invaluable input from the Computer Applications and Office Technologies Advisory Committee, saw faculty develop and implement new curriculum that utilized internet resources and computer software to enable non-native English speakers, single parents, and high school dropouts to integrate academic and career competencies, improve their business vocabulary and language skills and subsequently successfully enter the workforce.

Program Name: TSA Flight Crew Training
College: LA Harbor College
Category: 2. Outstanding Collaboration with Business and Industry
Nominator: Mr. Bobby McNeel, Acting Vice President of Economic Development
Program Director(s): Mr. Bradley Young, Mr. Don Hearn, Mr. Carlos Gallegos, Mr. Ed La Londe, Mr. Mark Bailey
Brief Description: This collaborative program, developed with the Transportation and security agency (TSA) and the American Association of Community Colleges, is designed to equip flight crews with the tools necessary to respond to terrorist activity while they are in the air or on the ground. The TSA chose five training sites across the U.S. including Los Angeles, and chose community colleges that had strong law enforcement programs. This is a program that has national significance in the war on terror.

Program Name: Workforce Literacy Program: A Demonstration of Flexibility
College: LA Valley College
Category: 4. Flexible Class Scheduling
Nominator: Dr. Deborah diCesare, Dean of Economic & Workforce Development
Program Director(s): Mr. Lennie Ciufo
Brief Description: If there is one word to describe the Job Training program at LAVC, it is “flexible”. Over the course of its 11-year history, LAVC has provided many customized training programs in a variety of settings, schedules and course content. By definition each and every one of these training programs are flexible in that they are developed in response to the specific needs of the employers. During the development process, all components of the training – curriculum development, instructor, training materials, schedule, and location of training – are tailored to meet the current needs of the employer.

DISTRICT AND COLLEGE NEWS

MOST INNOVATIVE, CREATIVE, AND PROMISING WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMS TO BE AWARDED BY THE LOS ANGELES COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT

Download the Press Release

(L-R) Edgardo Zayas and Morena Escobar, Los Angeles Mission College, hearing the announcement of their win

(Top L-R) Joyce Moore, LACC; Deborah diCesare, LAVC; Lenny Ciuffo, LAVC; Dan Sullivan ELAC; Renee Martinez, ELAC; Vincent Moretti, ELAC; Carole Delgado, Pierce C; Walter Taylor, LATTC; Eric Chavez, LATTC; Rocky Young, District (Chancellor Elect) (Bottom L-R) Gayle Brosseau, ELAC; Joanna Quevedo, ELAC; Donna Mae Villanueva, Pierce C; Morena Escobar, LAMC; Edgardo Zayas, LAMC

Los Angeles Mission College Takes Grand Prize

May 12, 2005

Nine exemplary workforce development programs were awarded prizes on Friday, May 6, 2005 by the Los Angeles Community College District. Categories include: "Best Integration of Academic and Technical Skills;" "Outstanding Collaboration With Business and Industry;" "Creative Use of Instructional Technology;" "Best Track Record;" "Best New Program" and "Best Community Collaboration and Service Program." Supervisor Yvonne B. Burke's office will be presenting the "Best of the Best" award. The program will be held at Los Angeles Mission College.

"This year we had such a wide-range of programs entered," says Diane McBride, LACCD's Dean of Workforce Development. "As career opportunities change and new occupational areas emerge from advancing technologies and changing economic needs, our nine colleges' workforce development programs become more innovative. These are the programs that connect with business and community, and help students to establish successful careers.

Workforce education programs offered by the LACCD provide students with the skills and knowledge necessary to succeed in a career along with employment preparation or “soft skills.” Vocational English as a Second Language, tutoring and counseling are included. Workforce programs often include on-site training.

The programs were nominated by the Deans of workforce development at each college and judged by professionals in the field of economic and workforce development and education.

The winners were:

Integration of Academic and Technical Skills
CommunicationsPlus
Pierce College

Outstanding Collaboration with Business and Industry
Fire Technology
East Los Angeles College

Creative Use of Instructional Technology
Computer Applications & Office Technologies
Los Angeles City College

Flexible Class Scheduling
Workforce Literacy Program: A Demonstration of Flexibility
Los Angeles Valley College

State of the Art Curriculum and Competencies
Electronic & Computer Technology Restructuring State of the Art
Los Angeles Trade-Technical College

Successful Encouragement of Non-Traditional Goal Pursuits
Engineering
East Los Angeles College

Best Marketing and Recruitment for Vocational/Technical Career Programs
An Integrated Approach to Marketing Career Programs
East Los Angeles College

Best Community Collaboration and Service
Administration of Justice Student Club
East Los Angeles College

Best Track Record
Careers in Child Care Training Program
Los Angeles Mission College

Best Workforce Development Program
Careers in Child Care Training Program
Los Angeles Mission College