DATE: March 16, 2016
TO: Institutional Effectiveness and Student Success Committee
FROM: Dr. Ryan M. Cornner, Vice Chancellor
RE: ACCJC Site Visit Summaries

The March 23rd 2016 Institutional Effectiveness and Student Success Committee will include presentations from each of the nine colleges and the Educational Service Center describing the preliminary results of the accreditation visits. Included in the packets are summaries of the findings and preliminary commendations and recommendations. This information is based on the findings provided by the team chair at the exit interview and contextualized by additional information garnered from the multiple meetings that college and district staff had with visiting team members throughout the week. While not final, these early findings provide a good starting point for dialog on addressing potential recommendations.

Over the next months, college and ESC staff will continue to work with the visiting teams. The draft reports developed by the visiting teams will be reviewed for errors of fact and returned to the team chairs. The team chairs will work with ACCJC staff to complete the reports and to submit them for review at the Commission meeting in June. The Commission will make the final determination on what recommendations the colleges will receive and the accreditation of the status at this meeting. Shortly thereafter, notification of status and final reports will be sent out and made public. This usually occurs at the end of June or the first week of July.

While only the Commission can provide the formal recommendations, the colleges and the ESC are already beginning work to address the broad level findings reported out by the visiting teams. This work continues our ongoing improvement efforts and validates our commitment to the accreditation process. Upon receipt of the final recommendations, additional information will be provided to the board and the community.

Define and regularly assess service area outcomes for library and learning support services.

The college was also "encourage[d] to":

1. Adopt consistent practices that allow for routine evaluation of course level data for the purposes of program review;
2. Implement a process to ensure consistency of student learning outcomes in syllabi in the associated course outlines of record;
3. Implement a process to ensure consistency between the course outline of record and the distant education addendum; and
4. Develop a formal process for evaluating the administrative structure of the college.

Actions Planned: March – June, 2016

1. Define and regularly assess service area outcomes for library and learning support services:
In February and early March 2016, the library faculty, the SLO faculty coordinator, and the Dean of Teaching and Learning met three times to establish service area outcomes for the library and learning support services. At the March 23 Library division meeting, the SAOs will be finalized and presented to the SLO Committee on March 28. Assessments will be completed by the end of April 2016.

Additional actions on the "encouraged" items are:

2. Adopt consistent practices that allow for routine evaluation of course level data for the purposes of program review:
The Office of Research and Planning has completed the necessary practices that make routine the evaluation of course-level data. It is available online at <http://www.wlac.edu/Research-Planning/Planning/Program-Review/2015-2016/pr1516-Completion-COURSE.aspx>

Report on ACCJC Comprehensive External Evaluation Visit
West Los Angeles College
March 7-10, 2016

Actions Planned: March – June, 2016

3. Implement a process to ensure consistency of student learning outcomes in syllabi in the associated course outlines of record; and
4. Implement a process to ensure consistency between the course outline of record and the distant education addendum:

To ensure consistency of student learning outcomes in syllabi in the associated course outlines of record, the Curriculum Committee met March 15, 2016, to address these two points. A faculty workgroup was established to develop a detailed policy to recommend to the Curriculum Committee and then to the Academic Senate in April 2016.

The Office of Teaching and Learning (TL) maintains a long-standing process of tracking each syllabus for each section for each semester and session. The syllabi are posted online especially to support students. Ensuring consistency and rigor of reviewing student learning outcomes in each syllabus with the associated course outline of record (COR) has been incorporated now as a part of the Office of Instruction's (OI) review of the TL tracking record. Faculty are already required to turn in their syllabi, and faculty who do not turn them in enter into a progressive discipline process with their division chair and their dean. Faculty evaluations have included a review of the syllabus. Evaluations now include a review by the division chair and the OI dean to ensure consistency of SLOs in each syllabus with the associated COR. The OI Deans and Division Chairpersons will now be reviewing consistently syllabi SLOs to ensure alignment with COR SLOs—as well as alignment of syllabi course objectives with COR course objectives. The Vice President of Academic Affairs will prepare a list twice per year that identifies all syllabi turned in, consistency between COR and syllabi SLOs, and alignment of course objectives with COR course objectives.

To ensure consistency between the course outline of record and the distant education addendum, the OI deans will now rigorously review CORs to ensure that each COR has the required distance education addendum. OI deans will be responsible for this review in coordination with the Dean of Distance Education. Although this requirement has been in place for over ten years, consistent and rigorous, sustained review for compliance has not been maintained. The Vice President of Academic Affairs will prepare a listing of each distance education course and its required addendum at the end of the fall and spring semesters that covers also any intervening special sessions such as winter or summer intersessions.

5. Develop a formal process for evaluating the administrative structure of the college.
The college president is now scheduled to review the college's administrative structure with the Academic Senate and the College Council in March and April 2016. The review will align with the Educational Master Plan and the college's operational goals for 2015-16 and 2016-17. The Planning and Institutional Effectiveness (PIE) committee will now add the review of the administrative structure as a component for consideration during Program Review beginning with its next cycle effective 2016. The analysis will be shared with the Academic Senate and reported at College Council. Improvements will follow the shared analysis.
