Arizona State University and Los Angeles Community College District Partner to Offer College Students Transfer Pathways with MyPath2ASU™ Collaboration

LOS ANGELES—The Los Angeles Community College District (LACCD) is proud to announce an exciting new alliance with Arizona State University (ASU) that provides students at any of the District's nine colleges with a seamless transfer experience using the unique MyPath2ASU™ online program for student success in achieving a four-year degree from ASU.

MyPath2ASU is a set of customized online tools available to transfer students from accredited, U.S. regional institutions such as LACCD's nine colleges. These tools not only ensure students a smooth transfer experience to ASU after earning semester credits or an associate degree from a U.S. community college or university, but can also shorten the time to completion for their four-year degree.

"We look forward to working collaboratively with Arizona State University to bring this new and innovative online resource to our students who want to pursue a clear, educational transfer pathway to ASU. The MyPath2ASU online toolkit makes it easier for our students and educational counselors to map out their transfer classes, so that they can obtain the four-year degree of their choice," LACCD Chancellor Francisco C. Rodriguez, Ph.D., said.

Through this partnership, LACCD students using MyPath2ASU will find their transfer experience simplified. They will have access to personalized benefits to help them navigate the transfer experience, including:

- End-to-end learner navigation through course-by-course guided pathways
- Ensure course applicability by assisting students with taking courses that apply to their associate and ASU bachelor's degree
- Guaranteed general admission to ASU and admission into MyPath2ASU major choice if all requirements are satisfied; Some majors have additional or higher admission requirements
- More than 400 course-by-course guided pathways into immersion, local and online ASU degree programs
- Self-service, degree progress tracking through My Transfer Guide to minimize loss of credit
- Connected experience through personalized ASU communications to prepare academically and build a connection to ASU

"ASU is committed to student success," stated ASU Vice Provost for Academic Alliances Cheryl Hyman. "We understand transfer students all have unique learning journeys. Through our new partnership with the Los Angeles Community College District and our MyPath2ASU transfer tools, we encourage all transfer students to have a connected pathway experience that will enable students to shorten their time to degree completion with minimal credit loss."

LACCD students will also have the opportunity to attend ASU in downtown Los Angeles through ASU Local, its new hybrid university experience. ASU Local empowers students to thrive in college and in life while rooted in their communities. ASU Local students have access to 130+ online bachelor's degrees while they receive personalized college and career success coaching and programming available in person at the downtown Los Angeles campus.

ASU and LACCD's nine colleges will work collaboratively to promote educational degree pathways containing ground and online course offerings. Information is already posted online on the nine colleges' websites. These pathways will ensure courses at LACCD are applicable toward the desired degree in the students' chosen majors to minimize credit loss.

Students at any of the nine LACCD colleges are invited to explore the over 400 course-by-course transfer pathways available through the LACCD-MyPath2ASU transfer partnership by visiting asu.edu/mypath2asu.

This latest partnership with LACCD builds on a long history of ASU partnerships with California community colleges. ASU has partnered with all 116 California community colleges to deliver over 400 articulated guided pathways into ASU on campus, local and online degrees. Last year, about 3,600 California community college students transferred to ASU.

The nine LACCD colleges include: Los Angeles City College; East Los Angeles College; Los Angeles Harbor College; Los Angeles Mission College; Los Angeles Pierce College; Los Angeles Southwest College; Los Angeles Trade-Technical College; Los Angeles Valley College and West Los Angeles College.

About ASU

Arizona State University has developed a new model for the American research university, creating an institution that is committed to access, excellence and impact. ASU measures itself by those it includes, not by those it excludes. As the prototype for a New American University, ASU pursues research that contributes to the public good, and ASU assumes major responsibility for the economic, social and cultural vitality of the communities that surround it.

About the Los Angeles Community College District

LACCD is Where Los Angeles Learns! LACCD (www.laccd.edu) is the nation's largest community college district, educating about 210,000 students annually at its nine colleges that serve the residents of more than 36 cities and communities from 900 square miles of Los Angeles County. Since 1969, the District has been providing an important learning pathway for students seeking transfer to four-year colleges or universities while also offering two-year degrees and certificated training programs to Southern California's diverse workforce in many specialized trades and professions.
