Martha Gonzalez

Martha Gonzalez is a Chicana artista (artist/activist) musician, feminist music theorist and Associate Professor in the Intercollegiate Department of Chicana/o Latina/o Studies at Scripps/Claremont College. A Fulbright (2007-2008), Ford (2012-2013) and Woodrow Wilson Fellow (2016-2017), her academic interests have been fueled by her own musicianship as a singer/songwriter and percussionist for Grammy Award (2013) winning band Quetzal.

Gonzalez along with her partner Quetzal Flores has been instrumental in catalyzing the transnational dialogue between Chican@s/Latin@ communities in the U.S and Jarocho communities in Veracruz, Mexico. Remaining active within the community, Gonzalez has been implementing the collective songwriting method in correctional facilities in schools, prisons, detention centers and college classrooms throughout California, Arizona and Seattle WA. She has won numerous teaching awards and is currently serving her third year as an ASU Gammage resident artist. In these ways her performance back ground, music pedagogy and transnational music movement experience has influenced Gonzalez's scholarship.
